HB 412 - Workers' Compensation; change certain provisions – Rep. Mark Hamilton – House Bill 412, if enacted, would amend Georgia law regarding workers' compensation insurance and benefits (Official Code of Georgia Annotated, Title 34, Chapter 9). While the Bill contains several proposed changes to the current law, the changes of greatest interest to the Georgia construction industry are the proposed changes to subsection (a) of Official Code of Georgia Annotated Section 34-9-11, which are contained in Section 1 of the Bill. This portion of the Bill is advocated by the construction industry in direct response to a recent Georgia Court of Appeals decision, Estate of Pitts v. City of Atlanta.

Section 1 of House Bill 412 is designed to make it clear that the workers' compensation exclusive remedy defense applies to all claims, regardless of whether they are based in contract, tort, or some other legal theory for civil liability. Specifically, it adds a few words to O.C.G.A. § 34-9-11(a) to make it clear that the rights and remedies created by the Georgia workers' compensation statute shall exclude "and be in place of" all other rights and remedies "and all other civil liabilities whatsoever". The Bill goes on to say that an employer may, if it chooses, assume greater liability to employees, but only "by expressly agreeing in writing to specific additional rights and remedies; provided, further, however, that the use of contractual provisions generally relating to workplace safety, generally relating to compliance with laws or regulations, or generally relating to liability insurance requirements shall not be construed to create rights and remedies beyond those provided in this chapter."

House Bill 412 was unanimously passed out of Committee and unanimously approved by the Georgia House of Representatives on March 4, 2015, and is now in the Georgia Senate. We would like to thank Philip Beck with Smith, Currie, and Hancock LLP for providing this detailed update on HB 412. Bill Status: House Passed/Adopted by Substitute; Senate Read and Referred

Bill Status: House Committee Favorably Reported

SB 88 - Payment of Wages by Payroll Card - Sen. Burt Jones - Georgia law currently does not allow for paying employees through a payroll debit card program for most businesses. SB88 would allow that. We have been working with a coalition of several other business interests to provide the option to use debit cards for payroll for all Georgia businesses. This option is available in most other states and could certainly prove beneficial to employers and employees. The bill would allow an employer to enroll employees in a payroll debit card program if, after giving the option to choose direct deposit, the employee does not select direct deposit as his/her preference.
